New friends

Summary

A crossover and a very odd drabble where the Canon is thrown out the window! Isabel and Manolita are two high school students. Great friends, they meet new people at the mall.

I am Isabel. Manolita is my best friend. We are students at Maria High School. On our way to the Sina Mall, we meet new people. We meet a teenage Alice, Alice Elliott, and her friend Lena.

"Hi, Alice. Hi, Lena!" Manolita, who always loves meeting new people, tells them.

"Hi." Alice replies.

"Good day to you." Replies Lena, who seems very polite.

Immediately after, we meet a woman named Merri and her friend Salia.

"I'm waiting for two other friends, Elena Amamiya and Liuka Kon." Salia tells us, after greeting us.

We left Salia and Merri alone. Alice and Lena want to go shopping with us so we do it together. We still meet Salia, Merri, Elena and Liuka later on. Finally, Manolita and I made new friends. We even exchanged phone numbers so we could contact each other later. That's great.

Manolita even had the idea to organize a party at her house and invite everyone. I don't know if her parents will want to. If not, we can always ask Merri. She's an adult and she must have a house.

Author's note: If you're wondering where I got this crazy idea, well, it's quite simple.

Before, being too influenced by comments on Facebook saying that Original Works had no place on AO3, I had the genius idea to "convert" them into fanfiction with the least amount of effort! I mean, taking a character from a Fandom with the same first name as my original character and there you go! Otherwise changing an original character's first name for a similar first name worn by a Fandom character.

This has resulted in some very strange tags. Several of them have been canonized on Archive of Our Own.

Afterwards, having realized that my genius idea was rotten, the "fake fanfics" were even less read than the original stories, and Original Works have their place on AO3, I deleted the "fake fanfics" to put the original stories back online.

But the canonized tags are still there. So I thought, "Make a list and try to use them in a crossover or two with a very basic plot. That way, they'll serve a purpose!" That's how this crossover came about ^^
